

Farming for Soil Health

Wednesday February 16th
Plainview American Legion

215 3rd St SW

9:00 am to 3:00 pm

RSVP for FREE Lunch

Featured Speakers:

Ray Archuleta: Ray is a renowned soil scientist who has been in inspiration to farmers across America. After 30 years of working with farmers, Ray has retired to his home farm in Missouri to teach and learn about biomimicry.

Martin Larsen: Martin is a fifth-generation farmer using no-till and cover cropping practices to grow conventional corn, soybeans, food grade oats and rye near Byron, Minnesota. Martin also works for the Olmsted SWCD, where he has done research on cover crops and nitrate reduction in ground water.

Local Farmer Panel: A panel of 3 local farmers who are incorporating soil health practices into their farms will discuss their management strategies and answer questions from you, their neighbors.

Thank you to our sponsors:

SCAN TO REGISTER

Scan the QR Code to Register or call Angela White with Olmsted SWCD @ 507-328-7139.