

Farmers Managing Soil Health

Thursday February 17th
Ready Randy's In New Richmond
9:30 am to 2:30 pm

Featured Speakers:

Ray Archuleta: Ray is a renowned soil scientist who has been an inspiration to farmers across America. After 30 years of working with farmers, Ray has retired to his home farm in Missouri to teach and learn about biomimicry.

Joe Bragger: Joe is an award-winning dairy and chicken farmer, in Buffalo County Wisconsin with a long history of managing his farm with soil health principles in mind. Joe's operation includes cover crops, diverse forages, and reduced tillage.

Local Farmer Panel: A panel of 5 local farmers who are incorporating soil health practices into their farms will discuss their management strategies and answer questions from you, their neighbors.

SCAN TO REGISTER

Thank you to our sponsors:

People...Products...Knowledge..